Project

Opportunity

Distrelec, the leading Swiss group of electronics & automation accessories across Europe relocated their European HQ to Manchester. A brand-new office design and fit-out was required to reflect the high ambitions of the company. Every aspect of the design was of great importance to the client team and its new workforce, whilst the final installation needed to meet exacting quality standards and show references to the client's branding and heritage.

Solution

A range of Tryst products were specified to create varying meeting and social spaces to cater for the multiple uses. High back Tryst booths & console units created solitary and confined areas for singular or group working, whilst low back Tryst sofas created sociable waiting spaces.

Dixi winged back chairs were also included to create waiting areas and together all products were brightly coloured to create a fun and welcoming environment and reflect the ethos of the Distrelec brand. The choice of organic, wooden legs of the Tryst & Dixi products added to this feel of honesty & integrity in the office.
